Review the High School winners below:

First place $500 to James Powell, a Junior at Terre Haute South High School. His Science Fair project is titled "Computational Modeling of Physical Interactions in Three Dimensions." He wrote a C++ program for this model. James plans on attending Rose-Hulman Institute of Technology after graduation.

Second place $300 to Erin Locke, a Senior at Terre Haute North High School. Her Science Fair project is titled "Does the Weight Displacement in Softball Bats Affect How Well a Person can Hit a Ball?" She conducted a number of experiments to test this question. Erin plans on attending Rose-Hulman Institute of Technology after graduation.

An additional $500 college scholarship is available for those students participating in this meeting.

In Case You Missed It

Approximately 25 ASQ, SME, and ASM members attended a March 11 presentation on Process Tampering: Capability and Control as seen by Eli Lilly. Dr. Leroy Franklin, as always, managed to engage the audience both with historic and freshly created data. The meeting was held at Richards Farm Restaurant in Casey, IL which permitted more of our Illinois members to attend.

Next Month's Program

Thursday, May 13, 2004, Prof. Mike Hayden will discuss ISU's doctoral program in Technology Management. The program is effective because of its content and structure and is also convenient because it is offered on the web. Dr. Hayden will focus on the Manufacturing Management and Quality Systems concentrations. He will discuss and answer questions, on entrance requirements, program components, and instructional methods. Location: Holiday Inn, U.S. Hwy 41 S (Just south of I-70, exit 7) Social 6:00 PM, Dinner 6:30 PM, Program 7:00 PM. For reservations, contact Roy Boissy at (812) 237-8329 or arrangements@asqwabashvalley.org. Joint SME, ASQ, ASM.
